DIVING BELL MAY NOT BE USED AT ALL

No one will search for the lost F-4 in the diving bell today. In fact, there is a chance that the bell will not be used at all in the salvage work. At 1:30 this afternoon it was stated that the arrival within a few days of the improved diving gear from the east coast, might make the use of the local bell unnecessary. At any rate, to the surprise of those who have been closely watching the progress of the salvage work, the bell has been shelved for the time being.

Jack Agraz and G. B. Evans, champion divers, will probably make a couple of trips to the ocean depths with no more protection than a diving helmet in an attempt to get a sight of the submarine. Both men believe that they can stand the pressure at sufficient depth to actually see the F-4, and be able to report which way she heads and where the line that was put around her by the tugs Tuesday last is holding. Both Agraz and Evans came ashore just before 2 o'clock to secure extra diving gear.

Salvage work on the sunken submarine F-4 today entered the third stage. The first period was that of endeavor by any methods available to save life while there was still a chance of life being found aboard the vessel; the second stage was that of careful preparation, when the undertaking became one of salvage and investigation only; the third stage is the actual raising of the submarine with the gear and appliances carefully prepared in advance.

This morning it was announced that the dredge Gaylord would probably be rigged to handle the big cast iron diving tube during the forenoon, and that a diver might descend during the day to actually view the wreck as it lies on the bottom, and give those above valuable information as to which way the sunken submarine heads, and how the line passed around her Tuesday night is holding. Much will depend on this information, regarding future movements.

The diving cylinder was pronounced completed yesterday by Civil Engineer C. W. Parks, is designed and turned over to Lieut. C. E. Smith, in charge of the salvage work. The rigging of a 7-ton boom on the Gaylord to handle the weighty cylinder took an extra 24 hours, however.

Admiral Moore went aboard the dredge this morning at about 11 o'clock to watch the progress of operations. It being expected that Diver Jack Agraz would be lowered into the depths some time this afternoon. The commandant returned ashore shortly after noon.

SENATE REPRESENTATIVES NAMED ON COMMITTEE FOR CONGRESS PARTY

Charles A. Rice of Kauai, James L. Coke of Oahu, Harry Baldwin of Maui and the Rev. Stephen L. Desha of Hawaii have been appointed as the senate's representatives on the committee to have charge of the entertainment of the congressional party due here the first of next month. This announcement was made late yesterday afternoon by President Chillingworth.

This completes the entertainment committee's personnel, and a meeting of that body likely will be called within the next few days to review the tentative program outlined by Territorial Secretary Thayer. President Chillingworth took care to see that each large island was represented on the senate delegation.

LIGHTHOUSE WORKER INJURED OFF MOLOKAI

Henry Howard, employed by the United States lighthouse department in the installation and repair of lights on the several islands, met with a serious accident at Kaunakakai, Molokai, when he was thrown from an open boat on a reef in a boiling surf. Howard had been sent to Molokai with material for a lighting station. Some of it had been safely transferred from the inter-island steamer Mikahala to shore. In attempting to return, the boat in which Howard was a passenger became filled with water. The vessel was partly demolished and Howard was thrown into the sea. He suffered a broken leg and internal injuries. He was brought to Honolulu in the steamer Claudine today and taken to the hospital for treatment.

To decide a family controversy, Secretary Garrison ruled that the names of President Tyler's two wives must go on the monument to him at Richmond.

Y. M. C. A. ADDS 41 MEMBERS TO ITS ROLLS

The present membership of the Y. M. C. A. was increased by the addition of 41 new members voted into the association at the regular meeting of the board of directors at noon today. This makes the membership 1566.

Among other business brought up was the appointment of a nominating committee consisting of W. A. Love, C. B. Ripley and H. G. Dillingham to nominate officers for the coming year and directors to fill the positions of R. H. Trent, F. C. Atherton, C. H. Atherton, R. A. Cooke and R. J. Pratt, whose terms expire this month. A trustee to succeed J. H. Cooke also is to be elected.

General Secretary Super's report showed 314 students in the educational department and 70 more enrolled for the summer term. Employment was found for five men during the past month. The physical department had an attendance of 2148 during March, which is the record for any one month in the history of the local gymnasium.

Those present were R. H. Trent, president; F. C. Atherton, treasurer; Robert Anderson, Ed. Towse, C. B. Ripley, H. G. Dillingham, W. A. Love, R. J. Pratt and Judge Clemons.

LANE TO WAIT WITH APPOINTMENT FOR MURASKY'S PLACE

Present indications are that Mayor Lane does not intend to make any immediate appointment to the office of building inspector, which position was occupied until a few days ago by C. G. Murasky. Although Mayor Lane has made no definite statement as to what he is going to do, it is believed that the office will be allowed to run along for some little time in charge of F. W. Beckley, acting building inspector. The mayor appears to be in no hurry about making the appointment and says that the work in the office is going along all right.
